THE PRESIDENTIAL PARTY RECEPTION IN THE EAST.

The President Gets Up Early in the Morning to Speak—Another Political Outbreak Expected in Hayti—It May End in Civil War—Other Telegrams.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 15.—An echo of cheers seemed to follow the presidential train throughout the night, as it went flying eastward. The stations in Missouri, which the train passed through in the wee hours were well-filled with sight-seers. Hannibal, Mo, was passed at 5:30 a.m. Despite the early hour fully 5000 people assembled and they gave the President a welcome. Edward Price introduced President Harrison who made a short speech in which he referred to the school children of the city in a touching manner. Wannamaker also spoke. Crossing Mississippi at Hannibal the train entered Illinois at 6 o'clock, and the President shook hands with many people at Barry, Griggsville and other places. At Jacksonville the crowd numbered several thousand. Governor Francis of Missouri had sent a telegram to the President expressing regret at not being able to welcome him to that state.

Esmeralda Means Fight.

CITY OF MEXICO, May 15.—A dispatch received late this afternoon from Acapulco says: The Chilian cruiser Esmeralda entered this port yesterday and sailed again to-day. Several of her officers went ashore and used the telegraph wires and made various enquiries regarding the action of the United States, showing that they were pretty well informed that the cruiser Charleston had been sent in pursuit of the Itata. It is believed that she steamed north to intercept the Itata and protect her should the Charleston attempt to capture her. The officers who came ashore were very reticent, but from one of the sailors it was learned that she expected to sight the Itata and act as her consort down the coast. The Esmeralda has a numerous crew and in appearance they are veterans and will fight. The above dispatch was confirmed at the war department, but the officers are inclined to be reticent. A prominent official said that the cruiser Esmeralda was warned not to remain in port, as Mexico is not harboring insurgent vessels, and does not recognize any other government in Chili than that of Balmaceda.

A Rebellion in Hayti Feared.

NEW YORK, May 14.—Advices received by persons in this city from correspondents in Hayti indicate another political outbreak which may result in civil war. Recently while riding in company with a few officers near the city of Jachael, President Hyppolyte was fired upon by four men. Two of his companions were killed and the assassins escaped.

Bound North.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15.—A dispatch to the Merchants' Exchange this morning from San Diego says the Charleston passed there last night, bound north.

Blaine Has the Gout.

NEW YORK, May 15.—Last night Secretary Blaine had his old trouble of gout, but not serious. His physicians ordered him to remain quiet for the present.

Arrived at Penang.

MONTREAL, April 15.—The Empress of Japan arrived at Penang this morning on her all around the world trip. She will leave to-night for Singapore.

In the East Again.

PITTSBURG, May 15.—The Presidential train arrived here at 6:10 this morning en route to Washington.

THE BOGUS CERTIFICATES.

Wong Hy Chun Arraigned—Coblentz and Mulkey on the Stand.

TACOMA, May 14—Wong Hy Chun, the Chinaman who was arrested at Port Townsend aboard the City of Kingston, charged with attempting to enter the Udited States on a bogus certificate, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Ayers to-day. Justice of the Peace Oliver Wood, of Port Townsend, father of Inspector Wood, of that city, who has been suspended pending the investigation of this bogus certificate business, testified that the prisoner was not the Chinaman who secured of him a certificate stating that he was Wong Hy Chuh, of the firm of Wing Ling & Co., of Port Townsend. Attorney Robertson, of Port Townsend, representing the prisoners, attempted to secure from Inspectors Coblentz and Mulkey a statement on the stand, which he desired, it would seem, for the purpose of showing how much they knew about the bogus certificate transaction No statement was made by the inspectors, and Commissioner Ayers, while reserving his decision until he can consult Judge Hanford, says Chun must be sent back to China.

DASTARDLY ATTEMPT

To Wreck a Train—An Unexpected Delay Saves Hundreds of Lives.

NEW YORK, May 15.—A dastardly attempt was made on Monday night to wreck the Pacific express on the West Shore railway. A little delay in starting the train saved the passengers from what would have been an instant and a terrible death. On account of the delay to the Pacific express the Haverstraw local pulled out of Weehawken ahead of it, and had reached a point a little beyond Little Ferry when an explosion occureed. The train consisted of an engine and two cars, and the only damage inflicted was the breaking of the car windows. The train was stopped, and the train hands went back and found about three feet of the track torn up completely, and a hole blown out in the earth beneath it. It was a wonder that the local passed over it safely. The Pacific express, which was close behind, was flagged and switched around the torn track, and then proceeded on its way. It is supposed that the explosion was caused by train wreckers, who placed a dynamite cartridge on the track, and who hoped to throw the express into the cut just ahead and rob it. The express is always loaded with money and valuables for the west, and on Monday night it had about $95,000 on board. Had the express not been delayed it would surely have been thrown into the cut, as all of the long line of cars would not have passed as safely over the torn out track as the shorter local did. Detectives are working on the case. There has been an attempt on the part of the railway officials to hush up the matter, and yesterday they denied the truth of the story to a reporter.

WHALEY INTERVIEWED.

The Cruise of the Haleyon not a Financial Failure.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15.—William Whaley, managing owner of the yacht Haleyon, has arrived in this city from the Orient via Honolulu. Whaley obtained considerable notoriety in connection with the opium traffic three years ago and had his name coupled with that of the Haleyon on numerous occasions since. "Where is the Haleyon now?" was asked. "Well, she cleared and sailed from Yokohama in January, and I can't say just where she is now. She cleared for Victoria and is still on the way, or at least I have not been advised of her arrival." "Cleared, did you say?" "Oh yes, she cleared; the customs authorities at Yokohama gave her clearance papers. Whaley's attention was then called to a dispatch from San Diego announcing that a schooner named the Fearnot had put to sea with an armed crew with the idea of picking the Haleyon up. "That is nonsense" was the comment. "The yacht cleared for Victoria and she will put into no other port." To a friend just returned to San Francisco he was more communicative. He said it had been pretty hard work pulling the Haleyon and her cargo clear of the Japanese officials and that the expenses of the trip had been very heavy. The edge came near being taken off the reward on the Hawaii by the efforts of some of the agents for the disposal of the cargo, to avoid making proper returns. Whaley pulled through all right, however, and the Haleyon's cruise was not a financial failure.

ORIENTAL NEWS.

The Japanese Hate the Russians—Russians Violate Japanese Traditions.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15.—Among the passengers on the steamer Alameda which arrived yesterday, was W. J. Ford, of New York, who has resided in Japan for the past four years. "In my opinion," said Mr. Ford, "the assassin who attempted the life of the Czarewitch was not so much of an assassin as an over enthusiastic patriot. There is a great hatred between the Russians and the Japanese. The Russian church is the finest and tallest building in all Yokohama, not even excepting the palace of the Mikado. Situated on a considerable eminence the church looks down and over the palace, a thing that is a capital crime in the code. Worse still, the Russian Consul lives at the Russian church and for the sake of international amity the thing has been tolerated though condemned.

Last fall the first Japanese Parliament was opened by the Mikado in person. On the way from the Imperial Palace to the House of Parliament the Mikado had to pass the Russian Church. There was a great throng of Russians and other foreigners assembled to witness the Imperial pageant, and Japanese were so outraged by the sight of the hated Russians gathered high above their heads and looking down on the Mikado that they broke all bonds and fairly mobbed the church, hurling stones and other missiles at the spectators at the windows. Their most sacred custom had been violated and in their rage they acted like demons. The Russians defended themselves in turn; they tore off the tiles from the roof and used them as missiles and they did considerable execution, and in the melee a great many Japanese were killed and wounded. Of course this affront widened the breach between the Russians and Japanese in spite of the fact that the Russian government took no official notice of the occurrence. But this attack on the Czarewitch, following so closely on the event of last fall, will surely bring matters to a climax between the two governments and there is little doubt in my mind but that Russia will demand indemity and reparation for the attack upon the Russian church and people."

WILSON-DALBY BLOCK.

The New Structure to be Erected Shortly—The Plans Ready.

Messrs. Hooper & Goddard have just completed the plans and are now calling for tenders for the new block to be erected at the corner of Government and Johnson streets, for Messrs. Wilson and Dalby. For many years this cornor has been an eyesore, but the building that is to be erected will be a decided contrast. It is to be a three storey and basement brick building with iron cornices. Iron pillars will be used instead of brick ones on the ground floor so as to give more store room. The block will be 120 feet long by 60 feet so that a lot of shanties will be cleaned out. Part of the basement will be used for a lager beer saloon; the rest being divided into kitchens, etc., for hotel purposes. The celtar will be reached by a wide stairway on Johnson street. The first floor will be divided into six large stores, all fitted up in a first class manner. The second and third floors will be fitted up for a hotel of 60 rooms with bath rooms, closets, and other conveniences.

The plans give promise of a neat structure that will be an ornament to the neighborhood. A handsome tower 80 feet high will surmount the building at the corner. This will add much to its appearance.

THE GRAND OLD MAN CONTINUES TO IMPROVE IN HEALTH.

An American Committed For Trial in London For Attempted Murder—Rudini Wants to Refer the New Orleans Affair to Arbitration.

LONDON, May 15.—Richard Duncan, of Washington, yesterday placed under arrest on suspicion of attempting to kill his wife, who was found unconscious and terribly injured on Mount Snowden, Wales, and who subsequently confessed his guilt, was this morning arraigned in court and formally charged with the attempted murder. After the charge had been read to the prisoner, he was remanded for trial without bail. Attendent physicians are of the opinion that Mrs. Duncan cannot survive, today.

Rudini Favors Arbitration.

ROME, May 14.—At to-day's sitting of the council of ministers Marquis di Rudini expressed an opinion in favor of submitting the question in dispute with the United States over the New Orleans affair to arbitration. Signor Nicolera warmly supported this opinion and if the American government consents to arbitrate the matter the Czar of Russia will be selected to arbitrate.

The Persecuted Hebrew.

CORFU, May 14.—The Hebrew excitement which has existed here for some time past, and which caused an outbreak April 27, resulted in the resumption of rioting yesterday. Two Hebrews were killed and a number injured. Troops again dispersed the rioters and now surround the Hebrew quarters. The Hebrews are forbidden to pass outside the cordon of troops, and all the stores kept by Hebrews are closed.

Gladstone Improving.

LONDON, May 15.—Mr. Gladstone is much improved to-day, and the fever is rapidly declining.

A WORDY WAR.

The Finance Minister Refuses to Answer Mr. Davies' Question.

Special to the TIMES.]

OTTAWA, May 15.—Messrs. Flint and Lavergne Burditt put the question in regard to the Trent Valley canal and Sir Hector Langevin gave answer that it was not considered satisfactory to the Opposition. Following this Davies put a question regarding the tips of Government subsidized steamers from the Maritime provinces to the West Indies and Mr. Foster refused to answer, which caused Sir Richard Cartwright, who had just came in, to move an adjournment of the House to allow Mr. Davies to make a speech in which he said the Finance Minister was treating himself and the House with disrespect. This Mr. Foster denied, saying the question was too involved and demanded a return. Burditt followed against the answer given by Langevin and the result was a wordy war.

BLACK DIAMOND CITY NEWS.

Preparing for the Celebration on the 24th—The Dog Nuisance.

From Our Own Correspondent.]

NANAIMO, May 14.—Nearly every small sailing craft in the harbor has been refitted in readiness for the competition for prizes to be given for the different sailing races on May 24. Some of them are fixed up in a neat and trim fashion, and have every appearance of being smart sailers. A large sum of money will be devoted this year to aquatic sports and which will no doubt please the citizens, especially as the sports may be easily witnessed from Front street, where the people are enabled to sit on the green bank and watch the contests as they take place. A few sail boats are expected from Vancouver on that day to compete for the magnificent prizes that will be offered for a sailing match, and they will have to sail fast if they intend winning the prize.

OPENING AN IRON ORE LEDGE.

At a special meeting of the Texada Gold and Silver Mining Company, held in this city on Tuesday night, it was decided to open up a large iron ore ledge which has been recently discovered on the claims held by this company. Already a number of men have been employed by them, but at present they are engaged in developing the gold and silver ledges. The iron ore recently discovered is said to be equal in quality to that of the iron mines, and is supposed to be the proper vein. However, as work on the latter is to be commenced shortly, it true value will be made known.

THOSE INFERNAL DOGS.

A few weeks ago the council advertised for a "pound" keeper and also signified their intention of doing away with a number of the canine tribe which infest this city, but so far nothing has been done to remedy the nuisance. One hotel keeper in the city possesses no less than sixteen of these brutes, and whenever a stranger happens to pass the door with a dog they pounce upon it and generally manage to give the lone dog a severe handling. A sailor was passing along the street yesterday, and had occasion to pass through a crowd of the tribe when one of the mongrels turned upon him and caught hold of his pants and ripped them badly. The man could not ascertain the owner of the dog so could not get redress.

REBECCA DEGREE.

At a special meeting of the I.O.O.F., on Tuesday evening, it was decided to make application, as soon as possible, to the Grand Lodge, for a charter to institute the Rebecca Lodge, previously mentioned, of the order of Odd Fellows. It is expected that the charter will reach the city in the course of a month and the installation will take place as soon as possible. Many ladies whose husbands are Odd Fellows are anxious to join the new order so that there is every possibility of the lodge being a strong one.

LITTLE HAPPENINGS.

Mr. T. E. Peck, who is known by every Nanaimoite, is at death's door and is not expected to recover.

Mrs. James Hoggan died yesterday at the advanced age of 89 years. The deceased has lived here a number of years and is deeply regretted. The funeral took place this afternoon.

The fire laddies are getting up an extra team, and in the event of no outside teams making their appearance on May 24, a match will be made between the two home teams.

TOOK POSSESSION OF THE LAND.

NANAIMO, May 15.—Speculation was rife among the citizens a few days ago concerning the purport of the visit of Mr. Hunter and Mr. Pindar to this city. Both gentlemen were reticent upon the subject, but it was not long being made known. They were seen to accompany Sheriff Drake in the direction of Departure Bay, and it was soon ascertained the visit was for the purpose of taking possession of the piece of property which was pre-empted by Mr. Hodgson many years ago, and which is part of that in dispute. They claim that Hodson has not been residing upon it, hence this action.

KILLED BY A PASSING ENGINE.

An Italian miner named John Ranko met with an untimely death on the track at Wellington, on Wednesday. He was returning from work and it being pay day he was desirous of getting his money on his way home. He rode on an engine as far as the office and in attempting to get off he fell and slipped under the wheels of the engine which ran over his face smashing it to pieces, and almost severing his right arm from his body. Death was instantaneous. Dr. Walkem held an inquest on the body yesterday and a verdict of accidental death was returned.

ANOTHER ACCIDENT AT WELLINGTON.

An Italian miner whose name has not been learned, met with a serious accident while engaged at his work in No. 3 Wellington mine on Wednesday night. While at his usual avocation a fall of rock came down and struck the man on the hip knocking it out of joint. The colliery surgeon was summoned but could do nothing, as he had no assistance, and could not administer chloroform properly without assistance so the man was compelled to suffer all night. Drs. Praeger and Davis went out to-day and assisted in setting the limb.

TRIED BY JURY.

There were a number of cases on the docket of the County Court yesterday, but were rapidly disposed of by Judge Harrison as only one of the defendants put in an appearance. A jury had been summoned to try the facts of the latter. This was an action by Mr. Haslam to recover the sum of $40.10 as balance of a lumber account. The defendant sued on a counter claim of $100, as the lumber supplied was not seasoned as represented. Several witnesses were called for both sides and after hearing the evidence the jury retired for about 40 minutes and on their return gave a verdict for plaintiff of $49.10 and dismissed the counter claim.

THE PLATFORM SHOULD BE RENEWED.

The platform which is used for dancing purposes on the "green" is becoming too dilapidated for use and the sooner the committee, who have charge of it, make some arrangements to have it repewed the better. It has done good service and when it is decided to renew it the committee will find they will have no difficulty in raising the necessary funds to meet the expenditure. A large number of persons have signified their intention of contributing towards the expense of erecting a new one so that there is no excuse for it not being carried into effect.

LITTLE HAPPENINGS.

Messrs. Field & Dempster will shortly remove to their new offices, which are to be fitted up most elaborately.

Mayor Hilbert is being severely criticised by the school boys for not fixing up the few gymnastic appliances which he promised.

One of our well known storekeepers was disturbed by hearing some one trying to enter the premises of his neighbor on Wednesday night, and thinking he would catch him napping he went down but only to find it was a junior partner of the firm.

An Expert on Advertising.

"Yes, sir, I know all about the advertising business, and in experimenting with nearly every new device in advertising that I have heard of, which by any combination I could apply to my business, I have spent probably over $100,000." Thus spoke a gentleman who is a member of one of the largest retail establishments in Detroit. "And this money I have expended probably within the last twenty years. From such an experience my opinion now is that there is nothing equal to newspaper advertising. I don't believe in great space ads. so much as in regular space ads. I want my ad. in every day or week, always in the same place, so that finally it becomes identified with that page of the paper. I advertise in dailies, tri weeklies, semi-weeklies and weeklies, but it has been more than five years since I have had an ad. in any programme or special scheme, patented or otherwise. They don't pay.—Detroit Free Press.

THE ENGLISH LAKES—BOWNESS TO GRASMERE.

Former Homes of Tennyson, Gerald Massey, Mrs. Hemans, Miss Martineau, "Christopher North," Dr. Arnold, Wordsworth and Hartley Coleridge.

Special Correspondence of the TIMES.]

AMBLESIDE, England, May 4.—A German writer has truly said, "There can be no guide to a lover of nature but that love itself." No pen painter who has ever lived or will ever live has limned or can ever depict in a page or a book the beauties of the English lake region. There never has been printed an adequate guide; and even were the best one that could be made provided, the traveler who comes here to see with eyes and heart would suffer greater from its insufficiency than find delight in its expositions. This is true because in the first place no one with pen or brush can produce on a single page or canvas a single picture comprising manifold expression. It would be a human impossibility to comprehend in any series of descriptions or paintings the myriad distinct and glowing scenes which the region furnishes. And even could this be done, then there would still be lacking all those glorious promptings to emotional enjoyment from associative interest which the beholder of the actual scene can never have interpreted to him by another. Everywhere is scenic glory here. But the wild, sweet undertones that tremble in every leaf and blade of grass, that sound in every tumbling waterfall, that are borne on every passing breeze, form the inexpressible witchery which thrills the being where these loving genii dwell.

Take simply the few miles, perhaps nine, from Bowness north through Windermere, Ambleside and Rydal to Grasmere, to illustrate the superhuman task you would have in attempting to convey to another what one sees, recalls and feels throughout the entire lake region. You could make a great volume full of glorious paintings, winsome descriptions, exquisite incidents, memories almost as comprehensive as the wide domain of English literature, and sweet with tender philosophizings; and then but have barely hinted at the majestic book of nature and reminiscence which lies open for the enjoyment of all who come. The village of Bowness is one of the quaintest and sweetest old nests in England. It is a dreamful maze of inextricable streets, whose houses are almost wholly covered with roses and ivy. The east window of its square towered little church is one of the oldest in England, having been taken from that once most magnificent of all England's ancient monastic edifices, Furness Abbey. The place is hidden beneath gigantic trees on the eastern shore of the queen of the English lakes, Windermere.

Climb Brant Fell behind it. The lake, immediately beneath to the west, stretching from the lower Furness Fells, in Lancashire, to Ambleside in Westmoreland, forms a liquid valley of blue, set with numberless emerald islets, its mountain shores merging into purple depths at the far north, where grim Helvellyn lifts its curved crest beyond the sublime isolation of mighty Helm Crag. The ocean blue of Morecambe Bay glints beyond the puce sands of Lancaster to the south. Esthwaite and Coniston Water glimmer among the western fells, and Hard Knot and Coniston Old Man form mighty sentinels in the background in the direction of the Irish sea. It is a sublime spectacle. But along with it is the ever welcome element of soft and tender beauty. The lower masses of larch nearest the water's edge are like gigantic pillows of emerald. These merge in graceful lines into the more somber fir, which, bank on bank and wave on wave above, roll upward in noble undulations, often to the very crests of lofty mountains, while half seen cottages peeping from mountain sides, gray old chapels nestling in patches of sunlight, splendid halls and manor houses perched upon lower promontories, and countless pleasure craft specking the fair waters of Windermere, add to the exultation of an exalting solitude that happy consciousness of certain, if isolate, nearness to man. But whose pen can adequately tell the calm which pervades these wondrous scenes? If silence can take on personification of vastness and majesty, you will be conscious of all that here. It has such intensity that one feels a sense of existing in some upper world from whose face and firmament sound has been banished. And it is so impressive and palpable that at times all objects seem but the imagery of reality, all moving things as the unreal mimicry of dreams, all persons but the shades of men.

Feast as you may at nature's lavish board the undertones are ever heard. Over yonder by Coniston Water, gray and scowling John Ruskin, a prisoner in his own home, lovely Brantwood, presses his pale face against the window panes and stares with strangely lighted eyes at the wondrous world without, but knows it not, for mad phantasms possess his darkened mind. You can see a hundred dales and glens which Wordsworth loved and haunted. Near Brantwood is Tent Lodge, where Lord Tennyson once lived, dreamed and wrote. Near, gentle Gerald Massey wooed those pensive spirits with whom he so wholly lived, and in whose actual though impalpable presence he so undeniably believed. Then a sturdier lot appear. Just below Bowness to the left Storrs Hall is seen. It was here that in 1825 such giants as the statesman Canning, the philosopher, novelist and poet, "Christopher North" (Professor Wilson), the laureate of England and bard of the lakes, Wordsworth, and Scotland's greatest romancer, Sir Walter Scott, met and held high mental carnival, while disporting like a bevy of school boys, and terminated the illustrious occasion by a brilliant regatta on Windermere in charge of Wilson as "admiral of the lakes." It would have been worth a year of ordinary namby pamby life to have sat silent among them and listened during those rare and radiant days.

Windermere, but a continuation of Bowness, is modern. The London and Northwestern railway penetrates to this point. In the place of Bowness, which is now left in dreamful quiet, it has become the southern metropolis of the region, just as Keswick, to which you can come by rail from the northeast, is the northern metropolis. The situation of Windermere is entrancing. It is stately in splendid inns and surrounding country seats similar to the grand mansions along the Hudson. The place with its modern suggestions and countless arriving and departing coach loads of tourists sinks out of sight beneath the giant forest trees when you have climbed to the summit of Orrest Head, where the prospect is still grander than that from Brant Fell, behind Bowness, for you are nearer the head of the vale of Windermere, where the encroaching mountain walls are highest and the noble lake itself makes the broadest expanses.

But near as this is to the steam whistle and coach horn, the undertones are even here. From Orrest Head, the haunts of every poet or prose writer of the region, save those of Coleridge and Shelley about Keswick, are again visible. Windermere, with its glorious foreground of foliage, is seen in its entire length. Range after range of lake mountains rise beyond it to the west. The valley of Ambleside lies like a half defined glen of purple to the north, darkening at its edges, changing to livid green along the higher ranges, the crags of Helm, Fairfield and Nab Scar forming great peaks of sun kissed splendor above. A mass of mountain tops and misty passes lies toward Ullswater in the northeast. Along the ridges, toward the Yorkshire moors, one purple furrow shows where was laid the plot of "Robert Elsmere," in Longsleddale. Besides, here are the woods and waters of Elleray. No Umbrian home ever held a bigger frame, a greater heart or a loftier and tenderer soul than the mansion of Elleray. The place is now just as it was when it was "Christopher North's" earthly paradise, with "several roofs shelving away there in the luster of loveliest lichens, each roof with its own assortment of doves and pigeons preening their pinions in the morning pleasaunce;" and the giant sycamore, of which Professor Wilson himself said, "Not even in the days of the Druids could there have been such another tree," still shelters Elleray with its mighty arms.

But six miles to the north of the village of Windermere lies Ambleside, more ancient, in that it was once an important Roman station, than any other village of the lake region. Like Bowness, the entire place is hidden in masses of foliage and bloom. Numberless tiny mountain streams tumble through it, and one turns the wheel of the quaintest and most picturesque old water mill in England. Here in a few moments' walk one comes to the famous Stock Ghyll Force; and to the east and higher still rises the huge ridge of Wansfell, with "its visionary majesties of light," as Wordsworth sang. From its summit grander prospects meet the eye than at Bowness or Windermere. Yet with all the entrancing excursions among the scenic glories roundabout more pilgrims come to Ambleside because one woman gave its name to the whole world. That woman was Harriet Martineau. "Skeptic" some called her. She held that she had passed the boundaries of skepticism and dwelt in a life of absolute faith. No one need grieve for her "views" when they resulted in so grand and diligent a life. No woman ever lived who accomplished more actual literary labor, or in that labor did more for the world's progress and humanity at large. Her old home, "The Knoll," is not a stone's throw from the highway, but is so imbedded in foliage as to be invisible from it. Just a few steps through a massive gateway, over a drive shadowy from laurel, hawthorn, beeches and holly, brings you to a sunny terrace aflame with flowers; and then facing about, the outlines of the house are gradually traced through masses of ivy pushing to the very eaves. The gray old Westmoreland stone can only here and there be seen. The large bay windows are half hidden by jasmine, climbing roses and passion flowers. And the huge chimneys and gables hint of the houses of Elizabeth's time. The older villagers say the light of Ambleside went out when they bore Harriet Martineau's body to its grave in the old cemetery at Birmingham. But it seems to me her good and kindly face must still be shining there with the blossoms from those great bay windows.

Just before you reached Ambleside you could turn aside a few steps from the highway and see, in Dove Nest, the former home of Mrs Hemans. Immediately opposite The Knoll, where lived Miss Martineau, though hidden by the majestic trees which line the banks of the Rothay river, is another fine old mansion, Fox Howe, where the great Dr. Arnold passed the happiest hours of his life. Then to the right of the highway, not a mile from The Knoll, is Rydal Mount, Wordsworth's home, described in the preceding article. A little beyond, almost at the edge of Rydal Water, haunt of the herons, standing close against the highway beneath the shadows of Nab Scar, is Nab Cottage, where Hartley Coleridge dwelt. Then Grasmere lake, shut in by Fairfield, weird Dunnail Raise and the mighty pikes of Langdale is spread before you, and in the sweet old village of Grasmere you will find the former homes of Wordsworth and De Quincey, and the tombs of Wordsworth and Hartley Coleridge in the graveyard of Grasmere church.

It is in this church, dedicated to St. Oswald, so old that British antiquarians cannot fix its origin, that the curious and ancient custom of "rushbearing" has been continued from the mists of antiquity to the present time. Traces of rushbearing may be met in some of the northern localities. It has been revived at Ambleside. But this is the one sacred edifice in all Europe where the custom has been continuous from time immemorial. In very ancient times rushbearing seems to have formed a portion of the Feast of Dedication, and the processional bearing of rushes for the renewal of floors, whose place they often wholly supplied, was attended with much pomp and ceremony. Many of the remote early English churches had no other floors than the bare earth, with now and then a line of rude flags along the aisles, and this church of St. Oswald's was provided with a complete floor only as late as 1840. Up to that time the small rushes which grow upon the fells, provincially known as "sleves," were gathered and brought to the church from Langdale in carts. Tall poles, often large holly boughs, were provided for the "bearings." These, curiously decorated with crosses, harps, wreaths and frequently with paper flower serpents twining around them, were carried about the village, often followed by four maidens with a flower bordered sheet filled with the sacred rushes.

When the rushes were all strewn in the church, usually on Saturday afternoon, "Jimmy Dawson," the fiddler of Grove cottage, struck up a "Rushbearing March" of unknown antiquity. He headed a procession forming at the village bridge. After this had threaded all the streets and wynds of Grasmere it returned to the old church, where the wardens, after an ancient usage, presented each of the bearers with twopence worth of gingerbread, paid for out of the church collections. The Rushbearing of Grasmere now occurs on Saturday in the second week of August. The procession, still moving forward to the strains of "Jimmy Dawson's March," follows St. Oswald's banner; and, scattering flowers and rushes, proceeds around the entire village. Rushbearing hymns and a hymn to St. Oswald are sung. Games for children are provided in the rectory field. Wrestling, "putting the stone," running and leaping are indulged in by countryside champions. Rushbearing hymns are chanted at the church gate. A choral even song is sung at 7 o'clock, and the old time distribution of gingerbread, dancing and other rural festivities are continued until mid night.

A GREAT CATTLE COMPANY.

Development of Northern Alberta Ranges —A New Industry Opening Up.

Edmonton Bulletin: The recent arrival of two beef buyers from the south, one in the interest of the railway company and the other in that of the leading meat firm of Calgary, looking for fat cattle, marks an important point in the agricultural development of the Edmonton district. It is not so very many years since the beef cattle required for consumption in this region were driven from Kamloops, B.C., across the mountains by way of the Jasper pass, or from Sun river, Montana, or at a later date from Winnipeg, and quite recently from Calgary. Cattle have increased in the Edmonton district to such an extent that for the past two or three years none have been imported. There are now enough cattle here to admit of the export of a considerable surplus, and they are in good marketable condition for butchering purposes. The only question between buyers and sellers is that of price, and the difference in views, if any, is not great. That there will ever be a demand for Edmonton cattle in the ranch country of southern Alberta and British Columbia was never thought of five or ten years ago. In those days the attempt to raise cattle where they required to be wintered in competition with a region in which they rustled all winter was looked upon as ridiculous and no doubt delayed the development of the cattle industry in the north for a long time. Experience has proved, however, that what is easiest is not always most profitable, and in recent years people in the north have been going more and more into cattle with increasing faith and profit each year. The only possible drawback to the unlimited development of the industry was the possible lack of an outside market. This possibility is now seen not to exist. The domestic system under which the cattle are raised in this district admits of the production of superior animals much more easily handled driven, or broken to use, than the wild range cattle of the south and therefore worth proportionately more per head; but the chief point of advantage is that the Edmonton stock raiser can just as easily as not have all his beef cattle in condition to fill the yearly demand for fat spring beef, which cannot be filled from the ranges, unless in exceptional cases, or under exceptional circumstances. No matter how many thousands or millions of cattle may run on the southern and British Columbia ranges, the local supply of beef for two, three or four months late in winter and early in spring must come from some place where cattle have the full benefit of a healthy haystack during the storms and cold of January and February. In the Edmonton district hay is more abundant than in any other section of the Northwest; this district is the nearest hay region to the range country, and therefore, it will have the double advantage in supplying the southern and western spring beef market as soon as its surplus of cattle is sufficiently large to ensure the necessary quantity being secured here. Instead of the market being likely to be overstocked, the greater the stock the more certain the market, for the more dependence will be placed upon it by a wider and wider circle of customers. The cattle raising industry is the one for which this region is preeminently suited, and the one whose produce is most certain of a ready and unlimited cash market. While the bunch-grass ranges of British Columbia may be eaten out, and the buffalo grass ranges of Southern Alberta may be overstocked, with its deep black soil and moderately moist climate, the luxurious vegetation of the Edmonton district of Northern Alberta will only increase its production of cattle with increase of settlement and population and cultivation.

SATURDAY HALF-HOLIDAY.

To the Editor,—I was very glad to see your article upon early closing in a recent issue and I have been looking for correspondence on the subject in your columns. As one who is interested in this subject, I think the time for united action, at least among the wholesale houses, is come, and I should be glad to attend a meeting with this end in view. Some of the wholesale houses do not pretend to close at 1 p.m., and so are not sailing under false colors; others draw down their blinds, but clerks who are often idle, could tell you that they never get their Saturday afternoon. Now the retail stores never expect to get goods on a Saturday afternoon, and so there is not the slightest necessity for depriving the hands of the pleasures of Saturday afternoons, and as the warm weather seems to have come in earnest I hope, that, with many others, I am not going to be deprived of the pleasures of this day. I am, etc,

A Saturday Worker.

AN ESSAY ON COUNTRY LIFE.

To the Editor:—My motto is "The country where a man's heart is in sympathy with nature and his soul with nature's God."

There is a charm in country life, when not hurried with too much care, that we look for in vain elsewhere. The opening spring, followed by the opening flowers, which are in turn followed by the ripening fields of golden grain. The berries and trees laden with fruit, followed by winter, which gives its season of rest and repose. What is your city life to this, your hurry, skurry, smoke, dust and dirt and guzzling of beer. "Far down thy gurgling depths, champague, drowned honor, love and beauty lie." But there is another phase to country life. The farm mortgage, the struggle for bread, the ever-widening unequal distribution of wealth, the trusts, the combines and our enormous indirect taxes. John A. Macdonald is a clever man, a great man for the rich, and a poor man for the poor. The present augurs well for the rich but what for the poor? Have they not been too far educated to be again reduced to serfs. Do our women suckle slaves? I think not. There must be a reform in the distribution of wealth, a reform in the manner of taxing the people, for the present strain is growing too great for our civilization, and unless reformed can only end in anarchy.

'Tis the sunset of life gives me mystical lore,
And coming events cast their shadows before.

Respectfully yours, R. Pinkerton.

IT LOOKS LIKE BUSINESS.

The U. S. S. Mohican Getting Ready for Southern Waters.

San Francisco, May 15.—It was learned last night that orders had been received at Mare Island to have the wooden cruiser Mohican ready for sea as soon as possible, and the officers at Mare Island make no secret that she is under orders to proceed to Southern waters as fast as steam and sail can drive her. Although it is stated that she is going down to Central America to relieve the Ranger, now on that station, still no one aboard of her believes this to be the case. Orders have been issued for a supply of provisions far in excess of her real needs, and for every pound of coal that can be taken on board of her, which will be stowed away in her bunkers. It is generally believed at Mare Island that the United States government has decided to concentrate as large a fleet as possible in Chilian waters, where it will remain until the war there is over, and this belief is strengthened by the fact that the Mohican will carry a quantity of shells which can only be used by the Charleston or San Francisco, and which would not be sent down on her if the vessel is going no farther south than Central America. It is further stated that the Pensacola is soon to be on the way to Chili.

CANADIAN NEWS.

It is reported by the Medicine Hat ranch company that a band of Indians are killing cattle on their ranches. Ranchmen are getting excited.

Convict Hill, convicted of safe blowing, at Portage La Prairie, two years ago, and sentenced to 10 years, effected his escape last night from the penitentiary at Stony Mountain. Guards and police are closely after him.

The misunderstanding between Canada and Newfoundland has resulted in a cessation of the friendly arrangement touching the modus vivendi. Hitherto Canada's modus vivendi certificates have held good in Newfoundland, and the Newfoundland certificates have been received in Canada. THE CRY OF MILLIONS

OH, MY BACK!

STOP IT NOW.

SOON IT WILL BE TOO LATE.

I have been troubled many years with disease of the kidneys and have tried many different remedies and have sought aid from different physicians without relief. About the 15th of April I was suffering from a very violent attack that almost prostrated me in such a manner that I was bent over. When I sat down it was almost impossible for me to get up alone, or to put on my clothes, when that Providence sent Dr. Henley, with the DRAGON KIDNEY TEA, to my hotel. I immediately commenced using the tea. It had an almost miraculous effect, and to the astonishment of all the guests at the hotel, in a few days, I am happy to state, that I was a new man. I will recommend the tea to all afflicted as I have been.

WHITE ROCK, B. C.

This Townsite is situated on Semiahmoo Bay, and is the only deep water seaport between the International Bounday Line and Vancouver, B.C. It will probably be the Mainland starting-point of the Victoria, Saanich & New Westminster Railway. It is now the outlet for the finest agricultural district in British Columbia.

The C.P.R. has made a survey of a line from Vancouver direct to this point. The Royal City Planing Mills Company has built a substantial wharf here, and has established a lumber yard, which supplies the farmers of this district. A handsome Hotel has been erected and building is going on rapidly. Several influential and far-sighted Corporations have acquired large tracts of land surrounding this Townsite.

GILMORE AND McCANDLESS

CLOTHIERS & HATTERS

SUITS TO ORDER

CHEAPER THAN EVER.

Since the formation of a union amongst the tailors in Victoria prices for clothing have advanced to such an extent that people are sending East for their suits. And we don't blame them, either, if they can save from $10 to $20 a suit. We pay union prices simply because we have to; not that we consider it right.

We were paying our men the same wages before union prices were enforced that we paid them ten years ago, when we received from ten to twenty per cent. more for our suits.

We have from ten to fifteen thousand dollars invested in tailoring, and we propose to turn it over at least twice a year, regardless of profits. To do this we will make suits cheaper than we did before we paid high prices for making up. Good Tweed and Serge Suits, $25.

Irish Tweeds, $27, $28, $30 and $32. If any other tailor in town will prove that these goods are not genuine Irish Tweeds we will donate a Thousand Dollars to any charitable institution that he may name.

Black worsted suits $40. You will get the same goods for $48 or $50 elsewhere. We intend to make a specialty of tweed suits for $30; regular price is $35 to $40. We have the store for our other business; it costs us nothing for the tailoring department; we have the stock; we have a first-class cutter, and we have capital enough to run it if we don't make a cent. So now is the time to get cheap suits to order.

We are going through the stock marking everything down. Don't take everything for granted. See our new schedule of prices.

GIVING THE LIE TO THEIR PRINCIPLES.

"All the British Columbia members have urged the free importation of sheep."—Colonist.

The British Columbia contingent, solid for the "old flag," have begun their respective parliamentary careers after a somewhat extraordinary fashion; they have given the lie to their principles. What must Sir JOHN think? How will he regard men, who, pledged to support him, importune him at the same time to relax the essential spirit of National Policy? Sir JOHN in his heart cannot but experience a feeling of contempt for these men. Sir JOHN is a little cynical. It is not to be wondered at. Nor is the organ of the "old flag" one whit more consistent than the British Columbia contingent. It rises to say that the importation of 10,000 sheep duty free into this Province is in the public interest. If the Colonist had said that the importation of these sheep duty free into this Province was in the interest of the British Columbia Cattle Company, the TIMES would be able to concur, but so long as none but the British Columbia Cattle Company are to get the benefit of the remission of the tax, the TIMES can only dissent. It is a poor rule of fiscal policy that does not work as advantageously for the consumer of mutton as for the dealer in that article, and the Colonist knows it. Says the Colonist: "The object of the Cattle Company is to increase the supply of mutton in the Victoria market. When the supply exceeds the demand no possible trade combination can keep up the price." Granted. But will the Colonist please inform us what other company than the one in question is to be granted this concession? We read that all of the British Columbia members are urging the free importation of sheep. Does this mean free sheep for everybody, that is, free "stock sheep?" And, granting that it does, what benefit will accrue to the public so long as there is a tariff on mutton sheep? Shall we suppose that so long as there is a tariff on mutton, British Columbia mutton raisers will not take advantage of it? The TIMES believes in free trade; but it does not believe in a free trade in which the consumer is "skinned" in the interest of Cattle Companies. If protection is good for the man who eats mutton it certainly ought to be good for the man who produces it. At all events that is the doctrine of this paper, and it proposes to hold high protectionists to their principles. If the Dominion Government desire to so far renounce its principles as to admit mutton as well as "stock sheep" into this province free the TIMES has no complaint to offer, but it will continue to protest against a hybrid protection which drains the resources of one class that the resources of another class may be indefinitely extended. The game of the rich being made richer and the poor poorer has been carried on long enough. The Government has no right to discriminate in favor of any particular class. The British Columbia contingent and the Colonist are favoring an impudent demand; are giving the lie to their professed principles. They ought to be ashamed of themselves.

CONCERNING THE SAANICH RAILWAY.

Hon. A. DE COSMOS, et al, want the loan of $500,000, the sum to be applied to the building of the Saanich Railway. It is proposed that the city lend them this sum, and accept for security a second mortgage on the aforesaid railway. The city might do worse than lend the Saanich Railway Co. the sum mentioned. As things of this kind go nowadays, the investment is perfectly safe, and cannot fail to be productive of material benefit. To some people it will occur, however, that, if the city can safely lend the Saanich Railway Co. $500,000, why not individuals? There is plenty of money lying around; why not private capital take hold of the scheme? The reply is, that the company have not, as far as we are aware of, diligently attempted to float their bonds; while as to local capitalists, they are either at cross purposes, or prefer to invest in enterprises which seem to promise quicker returns and larger dividends. This briefly summarizes the situation, with stress on the two last clauses. Local capitalists have been at cross purposes with respect to the Saanich Railway scheme, while the opportunities for quick and handsome returns on investments in real estate have been so numerous as to make railway connection with the Mainland appear a secondary matter. Not to mention British Columbia real estate, how much British Columbia money is locked up in American town property it is impossible to say. The quantity, however, may be supposed to be considerable, and it may further be supposed, that had the same money, backed by the moral support of this city, been put into a scheme for direct and rapid communication with the Mainland, the effect would have been to alike swell considerably population and the value of town property. It is not at all unlikely that were the Saanich Railway in operation the population of this city would soon foot up forty odd thousand. But in respect of the proposed loan, the question comes up: if Victoria, between guarantees of interest and cash loaned is virtually in for a million, why not cancel the interest guarantee, raise a million of dollars, and build the line herself, and if more money is needed borrow it, and give the lender a mortgage on the property? People have grown suspicious of railway companies. It has been their habit in the past to manipulate the property that has come into their possession through State aid as if the State had no rights that they were bound to respect. This is not meant as a reflection on the Saanich Railway Company; it is meant simply as showing that if this city should decline their proposition, it is owing to the fact that the rapacity of subsidized railway corporations in the past has lost them the confidence of the public. But aside from what should be the policy of the city in the matter of granting subsidies, this proposition cannot be gainsaid. Victoria should have direct and speedy communication with the Mainland, the question not being so much of cost as of details, that is to say, Victoria must know that she will get her money back, and that the line will be operated for public as well as private benefit. These details settled, Victoria ought not to hesitate to subscribe $500,000 or a $1,000,000 if need be. The Saanich Railway will add 5000 to the population of this city inside of a twelve month, and in all probability real estate would increase fifty per cent. in value.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

As a gentleman, the former Liberal representative of an important constituency in Ontario in the Dominion Parliament, said here the other day, the aim of the present Government of British Columbia appears to be to centralise all power, and to contract, and not broaden, those popular foundations without which the most enlightened and liberal government cannot exist.—News Advertiser.

HENRY GEORGE is engaged in writing a new book on his favorite topic. It is designed, says the London Advertiser, to reconcile the whole system of politico-economics, with his peculiar theories as to land ownership. Mr. GEORGE, continues the Advertiser, is one of the few writers on political economy who has the merit of making what may appear a dry subject intensely interesting and pleasant reading even to those who may not agree with all his conclusions. His new book will be looked for with pleasurable expectancy by a wide circle of the reading public.

The New York Independent has invited the opinions of 100 United States bishops on the question as to whether the Columbia Exposition in Chicago should be open on Sunday. The result is an extraordinary array of advocates for the keeping of the Sabbath. Seventy-nine out of the hundred are very warmly in favor of having the gates closed. The remainder prefer them open, with the exception of two, who refuse to give an opinion on the subject. Many of the minority stipulate that the gates should be open on the Sabbath only during the afternoons, and that departments like that of machinery requiring much manual labor for their exhibit on should be closed.

As respecting railway ferries, and above all as respecting the feasibility of the Saanich route, it has been raised as an objection that dense fogs will make navigation dangerous and uncertain. The same objection applies to every steamer on these inland waters. The same objection, in fact, applies to the navigation of the high seas, to the English Channel, to San Francisco Bay, to the Islander. Surely a ferry between Saanich and some point on the Mainland near the 49th parallel can be operated as regularly as the Islander? Somebody will say that Mr. VAN HORNE does not approve of the contemplated line. There are a good many things that Mr. VAN HORNE does not approve of. It may be suspected that he does not approve of Victoria, regarding her as badly situated. It would suit Mr. VAN HORNE'S purpose better if Victoria was situate at Vancouver. Whatever may be said of the fogs which will obstruct ferriage between Saanich and the Mainland, it must be borne in mind that the Islander steams through this very fog; and whatever may be Mr. VAN HORNE'S opinion of railway ferries, let it never be forgotten that if Victoria does not look out for herself, it is not likely that anyone else will take her interests into serious consideration.

Post-Intelligencer: The Salt Lake Tribune advocates an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, requiring that the President shall be elected four years in advance of the term of his office, during which four years he shall receive a small salary, sufficient to cover expenses, and making it his duty to spend the four years visiting various portions of the country, getting close down to the people, learning their wants and qualifying himself to pass intelligent judgment on the merits of their petitions.

What are the representatives of the people for? Are they not supposed to be close to the people and acquainted with their wants? Again who is this President that can legislate, however close to the people he may be? He is but an executive officer. Would the Tribune clothe the President with autocratic powers?

Lord WOLSELEY is not alone in his fear of the Chinese. Mr. SHEPARD, in the Nouvelli Revue, insists that amongst all the problems of the day none press more earnestly for consideration than the Chinese question. History repeats itself, he declares, with an unbroken rhythm. From the era of King Menes to the era of Queen Victoria, storm has succeeded to calm in constant rotation, and the profoundest calm has ever been the forerunner of the most terrible storm. "So it was in the time of Solomon, so in the time of Julius Cæsar and Napoleon, so it will be again, and soon. There is no sign more certain or more absolute of threatening revolution, of national destruction and of chaos, than the calm certitude of peace and repose which reigns over a great part of the world. Look back to old times, and we shall see that in this we have the surest indication which presented itself in thousands of cases before the explosion of the most terrible calamities." The terrible will in this case, Mr. SHEPARD believes, take the form of a Chinese invasion of the civilised world. In order that we may conceive what it will be like, he asks us just to consider the character of the Chinese man and nation.

Two boiler makers, J. Shaw and C. Lawson, who are working at the dry-dock, were slightly injured yesterday, while at work. They were lifting a sheet of iron, when it fell on the former's finger and the latter's leg. Neither were badly hurt.

Visiting Victoria.

Mr. F. C. Paterson, C.P.R. city passenger agent at Brandon, is on a visit to Victoria with Mrs. Paterson and Miss Smith. This is the party's first visit to the coast, and it is their intention to thoroughly enjoy it by staying over for the celebrations.

Start the Foundation.

Messrs. McGregor & Geeves, the contractors for the Cormorant street portion of the new city market, commenced to build the foundation for the building this afternoon. The excavation work is nearly completed and the work of putting up the walls will be pushed.

Christ's Second Com'ng.

The First Presbyterian church was crowded last Sunday evening to hear Dr. Campbell on "Recognition in Heaven." At the close of the lecture the Collingwood preacher intimated that his subject next Sunday evening would be "Christ's Second Coming."

Incoming Passengers.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15.—Passengers by the City of Puebla to Victoria: Mrs. S. J. Barry, Mrs. Wm. Parker, G. T. Atkins, Miss T. Jones, C. S. Laumeister, wife, son and daughter, T. H. Baxter, Mrs. W. R. Clifton, Mrs. B. Humphries, Miss F. Cox, J. J. Donovan and brother, Mrs. McLaren and daughter.

He is Known Here.

Suffern, the young man who is charged with robbing the Port Townsend post office is well known in Victoria. He formerly resided here but had to leave on account of some burglarizing scheme he got into. The authorities on the other side have a pretty strong case against him and as a loophole his lawyers claim that some of his family were kleptomaniacs.

Fire Escapes.

Owners of buildings who, in accordance with the requirements of the city fire by-law, are contemplating the addition of fire escapes to their buildings, would do well to examine those of the New York Hotel and other places, erected by Braden & Stamford. They have been pronounced the best, and are designed and manufactured by this well known firm.

The Excursion Boats.

The City of Kingston will make an excursion trip from the Sound one week from Saturday. She will make an extra trip the next day (Sunday). The City of Seattle will also bring an excursion party to Victoria on the Queen's birthday. She will run via Bellingham Bay. One fare will be charged for the round trip. It is expected that the T. J. Potter will be put on for the celebration by the Union Pacific Company.

Death of Mrs. McLeod.

Mrs. McLeod, mother of Dan McLeod, the wrestler, died this morning, at her residence, John street, aged 67 years. Deceased was a native of Scotland and came with her husband, Norman McLeod, to this city about two years ago. Dan McLeod is in San Francisco, but has been informed of his mother's death, and will leave to-day for Victoria to attend the funeral. Mrs. McLeod has been ill for about two months.

A Smelter.

The smelter which Seattle has so long needed is to be built at last. A strong company has been organized and incorporated and backed by unlimited capital, first-class reduction and refining works are to be built. The smelter is to go up immediately, will be ready to operate as soon as there is ore to work upon, and will cost, ready to start the fires, in the neighborhood of $500,000. The company was organized by Mr. Frank Brooks of Leadville.—Telegraph.

Police Jottings.

Dan Apples is at present engaged in painting the jailer's offices at the cells.

A case of the infraction of the Street by-law was dismissed in the police court this morning, the obstructions complained of having been removed.

Chinese residents have again been giving the provincial tax collector trouble, so he had one of them up this morning. The accused paid the taxes and the costs of the court. His Honor promised to impose a heavy fine on the next one that comes up.

A Large Crowd Coming.

Victoria will be packed during the Queen's birthday celebration. A large contingent have decided to come over from the Sound. In Seattle and Tacoma a great many are anxiously looking for the programmes to see what is to take place, while a large number intend to come anyhow. Port Townsend will be well represented, almost the whole city having decided to come over with their baseball team, which has been practicing hard for the occasion. They have the advantage of having played several games already this season, but the general opinion is that they will have to play a little harder over here.

Mr. Rudge's Narrow Escape.

Mr. Henry Rudge had a narrow escape from a not very pleasant death the day before yesterday while driving home towards Victoria along the Beachy Bay road. Mr. Rudge was accompanied by Miss Rudge, and her escape from any hurt at all is all the more strange. It seems the horse took fright or shied at something and swerved on one side, pitching the buggy and its occupants over a precipice of some considerable height. Miss Rudge completely avoided even a scratch, but Mr. Rudge sustained several hurts, fortunately not serious in their character. The party arrived home last night, and to-day Mr. Rudge is confined to the house.

Should be Chained Up.

In the city police court this morning John Cameron was charged by W. T. Drake with keeping a dog that endangered pedestrians. It appears that a lady was passing Mr. Cameron's a few days ago when two dogs were fighting. One of the animals jumped at her and tore her dress to shreds. Mr. Cameron paid for the dress so the matter was not proceeded with. His honor in speaking of the case said it was not right for people to bring cases up in the police court and then not prosecute because the damage had been paid for. The police court was a place where wrong doers were punished. If damages were wanted the case should be taken to the county.

Victoria and Montreal.

Mr. J. H. Brownlee, in this issue, is inviting tenders for the grading of a winding road to the top of Mount Tolmie. The surveys have been completed by Mr. John Keen, C.E., who has been engaged in that work for some weeks past. Anyone who has visited Montreal and driven up the gentle slope of the serpentine road leading to the top of Mount Royal Park, will never forget the glorious prospect spread before him or her with miles and miles of the grand old St. Lawrence River stretching away in the distance, and the great throbbing city below. In Mount Tolmie, and the incomparable scenery surrounding it, Victoria on the Pacific will outshine Montreal on the St. Lawrence for either beauty or grandeur of scenery.

The Hall Mine.

Mr. G. B. Wright returned from Kootenay on Thursday night. The district continues to attract increased attention and many investors from the United States are taking up quartz claims and buying lots in Nelson and Ainsworth, where property is rapidly increasing in value. It is reported that the owner's of the famous Hall mine are considering an offer of two million dollars for their property. The capitalists who have made this offer are understood to be the same parties who some time ago offered one and a half millions for the same mine. The mine is believed to be the richest one on the continent of America, and when the machinery necessary to its proper working is set in motion, it will sustain a small town itself.

Plenty of Guy Fawke's Material.

As a result of the inspection of the powder magazine at the park to-day, it was found that there are over six tons stored there, sufficient in the event of an explosion to blow up almost the entire James Bay ward. Col. Holmes advises the city to seek arbitration in the matter, and thinks there would be no trouble experienced in removing the magazine. The only excuse in placing it there in the first instance was the fact that it was convenient to the battery barracks and the fort on the hill. Now, however, the barracks are deserted and the fort dismantled, while any powder needed for the battery on the Esquimalt road has to be transported through the heart of the city, an additional danger.

A Novel Operation.

A difficult operation in oral surgery was performed by Dr. R. F. Verrinder yesterday morning, when two incisor teeth that had been extracted a few days previous were cleaned and reset. This operation is technically known as re-implantation, and as one of the new and advanced operations of dental surgery is now for the first time being introduced in this city. Re-implantation is frequently feasible in case of alvuolar abscess and pyrrhoea alveolaris, where the teeth become elongated and quite loose, they may be extracted, as in the case mentioned, the socket elongated and the teeth reset in their normal positions, when they will become quite firm and as useful as ever, so that it would be difficult even for an expert to distinguish which were the scion teeth. Dr. Verrinder has recently performed four operations of a similar nature, and all are doing well.

Indian Customs Revived.

News has been received from the Upper Skeena of the revival of the time honored potlatch among the Indians in the neighborhood. At the Kish-pie-axe village, about 170 miles up the Skeena river, has recently been held one of the most barbarous "potlatches" that has been held for years—in fact, ever since the advent of the missionaries in that section of the country. For many years the different missions have appeared to have an "evangelizing" influence over the aborigines, checking many of these heathen customs, and establishing the tenets of a more civilized system. However, for the past two years, the new influence has been losing its efficacy, and that in the face of earnest conscientious men, who are striving their utmost to teach the natives that there is a brighter light outside of their barbarous customs.—Press Press.

Kuper Island School.

Rev. Father Duncan, principal of the Kuper Island industrial school writes very encouragingly of affairs in the school. In consequence of an increased grant from the government it has been decided to get the boys some neat new uniforms of blue. The boys are behaving themselves splendidly, are contented and happy, and seem to have a great desire to learn both working and reading and writing. There is the full complement of boys in the school, but it is likely seeing the progress the institution is making, that the authorities will increase the scope of its labors. Owing to the efficiency of the boys' band and several other improvements, the procession to Cowichan this year will be attended with more solemnity and display than before. A departure has been made in the institution of a girls' branch. It will be commenced with about a dozen children as an experiment, and will be in charge of three of the sisters constituting a matron, assistant matron and teacher.

The Agricultural Society.

The directors of the British Columbia Agricultural Society met in the committee room at the City Hall last night to select a plan for the proposed exhibition building on the land secured by the Society adjoining the Driving Park. The President, D. R. Ker, was in the chair, and there were present: R. Seabrooke, C. Hayward, W. Thompson, Dr. Milne, M.P.P., W. Dalby, W. J. McKeown, jr., W. Lorimer, J. H. Todd, J. Braden, Wm. Templeman and T. W. Carter. The building committee submitted half a dozen plans, which were carefully examined, and on a ballot being taken the second one submitted by Mr. Soule was selected. The architect will be requested to prepare specifications, so that everything will be in readiness for the work of construction to proceed as soon as the by-law has been voted upon by the people. The secretary was instructed to correspond with a view to securing judges for the exhibition, the object being to obtain perfectly disinterested and competent men from a distance.

The Rose of Castile.

The opera company now occupying the boards at the Victoria are just what they represent themselves to be—first-class. The "Rose of Castile," which they gave last night, was well done. Madame Abbie Carrington ranks with the best singers that have visited this city, and she is strongly supported. Comparing her support with that of Juck's, it may be safely said that it is in every way equal. Since it is not purposed to enter into an analysis of last night's opera, to specialize would perhaps be invidious, but it is impossible to dismiss the subject without mentioning Donna Carmen, Don Sallust, and Manuel the Muleteer, each of whom, in the order named, represent the highest order of contralto, bass and tenor voices. It goes without saying that the prima donna was recalled several times, but so was her support. There is no question of the merit of the company, whether taken collectively or individually. "Martha" will be given to-night. The company should be given a rousing reception. Victoria cannot afford to ignore real merit.

Of One Opinion—Victoria Recognises True Merit.

During the visit of Professor Seward, the celebrated optician of New York, last fall, a large number of prominent ladies and gentlemen, not only of Victoria, but surrounding cities, called and had glasses adjusted to their eyesight, and now since Professor Seward's return, he finds, as he expected, the universal expression to be, "His work is the best that has ever been accomplished in Victoria." Professor Seward has been especially successful in correcting the most difficult of defective sight, also of adjusting cataract glasses and fitting artificial eyes. His stay in Victoria can only be of short duration, as he has promised on this trip to stop at Nanaimo, Vancouver and New Westminster, and at Seattle and Tacoma on the Sound, which he could not do on the last trip on account of limited time. This will be the last trip to the Pacific coast. A record of the examination and test of each patron is kept on file, and the glasses can be duplicated at any future time by addressing Prof. F. D. Seward, P.O. box 3567, New York. Office hours while in Victoria, 9 a.m to 5 p.m. Cor. Yates and Douglas streets, over drug store.

The Pilot Matter.

The seizure of the British tug Pilot, like the seizure of the Lorne, is attracting much attention among the shipping men at all points on the Sound, and the general opinion is that Collector Bradshaw has this time over-reached himself. One well-known captain said to a Tacoma Ledger reporter: "I think, with many others, that the tug-boat trust and its friends know the trust is on its last legs, and are using whatever means are in their power to put off the death. There is not a shadow of doubt that the Pilot is held illegally. By a peculiar construction of the law Collector Bradshaw excused himself for the seizure of the Lorne, but the case of the Pilot is entirely different. She (the Pilot) brought the Favonious from Victoria to Tacoma direct. The Favonious is a foreign ship and was brought from a foreign port, so the question of interfering with American coasting traffic will not enter into this at all. Collector Bradshaw must know this, and he is probably just holding the tug to prevent British tugs competing with American tugs for a time."

Rowing in Victoria.

The Victoria boys are on their mettle. They see Vancouver and New Westminster, their powerful rivals, with flourishing boating clubs, while there is not even an apology for one in Victoria with one of the finest regatta courses in the country. Of course a statement like this will raise some feeling as reflecting on Victoria, but the boys have got to face the music in this as in everything else. They must be up and doing; they are by no means what they can be or ought to be. They can remedy this state of affairs by attending the meeting at the Driard this evening and forming a live boat club. Let it be independent of everything and everybody, let there be none of this looking for "encouragement from the public" like a child looking for support when trying to walk. The boys find lots of money to spend on individual pleasure, let it be concentrated on something beneficial.

The meeting this evening will take place at 5:30 o'clock, and will be attended by all the leading sports interested in boating.

Surer foundation cannot be laid than the real merit which is the solid base for the monumental success of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

THE TURF.

It is probable that W. Chambers' mare, Maud C., which made such a good showing at the Jockey Club's spring races will go to all the meetings of the Northwestern circuit. If she does, some of the Sound flyers will have to get down to work.

MURPHY ON DECK.

LOUISVILLE, May 13.—Although the Derby proved tame, flat and uninteresting, the regular spring meeting of the Louisville Jockey Club was most auspiciously inaugurated at Churchill Downs to-day. The city was overrun with strangers attracted here by the Derby, and the Democratic State convention adjourned in honor of the occasion. The field and every prominence without the enclosure were black with people. The grand stands, enlarged since last year, and the newly terraced lawns were jammed, and on the top of the stands so great was the crowd perched there that apprehensions were felt that there would be a collapse. The attendance was nearly 40,000, and among them was the largest number of ladies ever seen in the ladies' stands. The club house and lawns of the betting stands were occupied by fifty bookmakers, and they had a good deal more than they could attend to. It had been announced that the starters would be Hart Wallace, Valeria, Georgetown, Balgowan, Kingman and Easton, and Larabee's pair, High Tariff and Poet Scout. Hon. Bill Owens, of Georgetown, owner of Georgetown, concluded that his colt was not fit, and refused to submit him to the trying ordeal, and he was announced a non-starter. Scoggins Bros. also decided not to try any experiments with Valeria, whom they wanted to save. Easton let High Tariff, the best of his pair, remain in, and these, with Kingman and Hart Wallace, made the field.

Kingman's great race at Lexington entitled him to the first call in the betting, and it was a liberal bookmaker that laid odds of 600 to 500 on the winner. Balgowan was second choice, at 5 to 2, with 8 and 10 to 1 obtainable against Hart Wallace and High Tariff.

When the Derby was called Kingman came out first, ridden by Isaac Murphy, and recognition of the horse and rider was followed by cheers that the surrounding knolls and hill-tops took up and echoed back again. The others, also, were given a cordial reception by the crowd. Ranged up, they were given the flag at the first attempt. A slow pace was set, with High Tariff making the running, Balgowan at his saddle-girths and Kingman and Hart Wallace well up. The race was slow, and at the half positions were unchanged. They passed the stand in the same order, but on the back stretch Hart Wallace and High Tariff joined strides, Balgowan at his same old place. The pace quickened as the mile was finished. Kingman's stride was regular and his head was in the air, although Murphy had been gradually improving his position.

A furlong from the post Kingman was on even terms with Balgowan, the rest beaten back. The struggle was brief. Another kink of Murphy's lines went out and the whip descended. The colt's response was a burst of speed that shook the hard-whipped and hard-ridden Balgowan off and sent Kingman the winner of the Derby by an open length. Balgowan was second, a length from High Tariff, Hart Wallace half a length to the rear. Nobody expected fast time, for there was nothing to make Kingman run, and with the track heavy with dust there was no disappointment when the time 2:52¼ hung up. The distance was the regular Derby route, one and a half miles, and each carried 122 pounds. The pecuniary value of this year's Derby was about $4700.

Following is a summary of the other races:

Six furlongs, weight for age, three quarters of a mile—Too sweet won, Jubilee second, Bob L. third. Time, 1:16.

Two-year-olds and upwards, five furlongs—Overton and John Berkley ran a dead heat, Unadilla third, and the purse was divided. Time, 1:04.

Three-years old and upwards, three-quarters of a mile, heats—Sull Ross won, Royal Garter second, Duke of Highlands third. Time, 1:14. Second heat—Sull Ross and Royal Garter ran a dead heat, with Ed Hopper third. Time, 1:16¼. The run off was won by Sull Ross. Time, 1:16

AQUATICS.

James Bay Boating Club has two single scull outriggers in the boat house to enter the lists at the regatta. One is a Westminster build and will be rowed by George Askew. It weighs just 27 pounds. The other is a more solid and somewhat heavier built boat, and will be rowed by either Des Brissy or Sullivan, both of whom are training for the event which the boys feel confident will result in the return of the championship cup to Victoria.

The four oared shell for the James Bay Boating Club is expected over from Vancouver to-morrow.

BASEBALL.

TO-MORROW'S GAME.

To-morrow afternoon the Amities will play a picked nine at Beacon Hill, the game commencing at 2:30. The following are the players and positions:

AMITIES.	POSITION.	PICKED NINE.
Borthwick	Catcher	Huxtable
Johnson	Pitcher	Lenfesty
Meade	1st base	Partridge
Widdowson	2nd base	Clyde
Franklyn	3rd base	Smith
Jackson	short stop	Williams
Burnell	left field	Askew
Gouge	centre field	Wrigleworth
Hannan	right field	Lorimer
Dubbs	subs	Gold

The batteries will probably be reversed for the purposes of practice, which will make the game very interesting. All the players will appear in uniform.

Liebreich's Remedy for Tuberculosis.

Cantharidin is Professor Liebreich's remedy for tuberculosis, administered by hypodermic injections. The solution made is as follows: 0·2 gm. cantharidin and 0.4 gm. potassium hydrate (0·3 gm. sodium hydrate) are warmed with 20 cc. water in a water bath until solution is effected; this solution is diluted with warm water and after cooling made up to one liter. Cantharidin, $C_{10}H_{12}O_4$, is the anhydride of cantharidic acid, $HOC_{10}H_{12}O_5$, and the above solution exists as cantharidate of potassium (or sodium). CONTRADOS. The initial dose represents 0.1 mg. cantharidin, which is gradually increased to 0.6 mg.; the remedy as yet has only been used in affections of the larynx and is easily tolerated by the system. Professor Frankel, upon whose patients the experiments were made, emphasizes the statement that the bacilli become scarcer and thinner under the treatment. Its action depends upon inducing a serous transudation in the diseased parts.—Apotheker Ztg., 1891, 122.

THE WORLD CIRCLING CRANK

Will Take an Aerial Trip to the North Pole After His Return to Whatcom.

A Whatcom correspondent of the Post-Intelligencer writes: Your reporter, having sent up his card to Mr. Train, was graciously accorded an interview with regard to his future plans. "After my return to Whatcom," said he, "it is my intention to make two more trips around the world, one from Anacortes and one from Mukilteo, each trip beating my former record. And then, after taking a needed rest, I intend to make a trip to the North Pole in a balloon. Two well-known French aeronauts and scientists have arranged the details of the trip, and I have made arrangements to accompany them. What is my principal object in going? Well, I wish to make a personal inspection of the ice accumulations at the North Pole. These immense deposits at the poles are a menace to the stability of the earth, and also to all of its inhabitants." "In what way?" "Well, to make my views clear, I will have to commence back a way. We find plenty of fossil remains of polar animals at and near the equator; and, on the other hand, we find the mastodon and other tropical animals imbedded in solid ice in Northern Siberia. There is only one way to account for these phenomena. The earth has at some former time changed its axis. There is only one way to account for the change. When, through countless ages, the ice has accumulated at the poles to a certain extent, the earth becomes top-heavy, as it were, and flops over in the twinkling of an eye, the relative position of the poles and the equator being changed. When the change occurs all of the loose rock at and near the surface will leave the earth in a tangent, being thrown into space with such velocity that most of it will go beyond the earth's attraction and become meteorites and star dust. What would become of the people in such an event? Well, they would be apt to loose their grip on things terrestrial, and, to state the case very mildly, would be badly shaken up. I have invented and perfected a method by which large masses of ice, even icebergs, could be rapidly melted by electricity. No, I will not attempt to utilize the aurora borealis for my electricity.

"If I find on personal inspection that ice has accumulated at the poles to such an extent that the earth will be in any immediate danger of losing its balance, my ice-melting machine will be brought into requisition. Where will I get my electricity? At the nearest available land where there are large bays and inlets, huge dams, with gates at suitable intervals, will be built across their entrance to the ocean; the gates will be left open when the tides are coming in, and when the water is up to its highest point the gates will be closed, and when the tide is out the water thus confined will be used to drive immense water wheels, and these will operate great dynamos. Large storage batteries will also be constructed for use when the dynamos are not running. Insulated wires will be laid to the vicinity of the ice accumulations, and, if the work is carried on on a scale commensurate with its great importance, not only will the great polar ice masses be rapidly melted, but the hyperborean climate will be so modified that the ice will cease to accumulate to any great extent."

NEWS NOTES FROM NELSON.

Mining Operations Commenced for the Season—Precious Metal Near Nelson.

The Miner.]

Advices from Revelstoke are that the foundation of the roaster at the smelter, owing to defective construction, gave way, causing the roaster to collapse. The owners of that enterprise are deserving of better luck.

A. D. Wheeler has let a contract to sink a shaft 100 feet on the Kootenay Chief, a property adjoining the Blue Bell on the east side of Kootenay lake. Tom McGovern and Alec McLeod were awarded the work.

Mail matter from Spokane and United States points now remains at Sproat from Tuesday afternoon until Friday morning, and from Friday afternoon until Tuesday morning, instead of being forwarded to Nelson promptly. This, too, when a train for Nelson leaves Sproat every morning in the week, except Sunday.

The new trail to the Whitewater mine on Rover creek will be finished on Tuesday. The mill on the Gold King has been taken down, and will be packed to the Whitewater ground next week. A Triumph vanner was received at Sproat on Monday. Work will commence on the mill building on Tuesday, and Manager Davys expects to have the mill running the first week in June.

That there is mineral in the bare mountain 1½ miles to the south of Nelson has long been known, but, owing to the depth of alluvium, no well-defined ledge has yet been discovered. William Hunter, on April 25, made a location which he believes is a ledge in place. The gangue is quartz, and carries ore assaying $20 in silver and $3 in gold to the ton. The claim will be prospected during the summer.

The Canadian Pacific will erect a 30-room hotel at Robson, the Columbia river terminus of the Columbia & Kootenay Railway. It will also erect four camping-houses along the Kootenay for the convenience of tourists and fishing parties. The houses will be furnished with bunks and cooking utensils, and parties will be supplied with blankets, provisions, etc., from the company's store at Robson. The hotel at Robson will be in charge of N. Sicotte and L. Levesque.

While on a pleasure trip to Japan in the early 80s, Captain George A. Ainsworth ran across a steam launch that took his fancy. Being a millionaire at the time, he purchased it, and brought it back to Portland, Oregon. The hull is about 30 feet long, and is built of teak. In 1885, having contracted to place a steamer on the upper Columbia by a certain date, he forwarded the launch to little Dalles, and ran it until the steamer Kootenay was completed, when it was hauled up on the river bank and housed. It is now to be taken to Sproat, put aboard a flat-car and transported to Nelson, whence it will be taken to Ainsworth and put in thorough repair. A. D. Wheeler will use it on the lake as a private launch.

"The question, "What are the owners of the Silver King going to do with that property this summer?" is one often asked by strangers visiting Nelson. The Miner is not in the confidence of the owners of the property, therefore it knows nothing of their intentions. At present 17 men are employed in running crosscuts and a tunnel and in sinking a shaft. The faces of the crosscuts and tunnels are in ore, as is also the bottom of the shaft. That there is a deal on is evidenced by the fact that John Miller, a mining expert of Glasgow, Scotland, was ordered here on two day's notice, and is now making an examination of the property. Mr. Miller is reputed to have had quite an extended range of experience as an expert, having just arrived from examining properties at Broken Hill, Australia, when ordered from Glasgow to this part of British Columbia.

Donald Notes.

R. A. Kingston, of Donald, has taken the contract of building the two residences at Golden, for Mr. Alexander.

J. M. Carroll, of Beaver, and Chas. M. Field, of Rogers Pass, were arrested by constable Harold Redgrave, for stealing and embezzlement. Carroll is out on bail; Field is in the lockup.

The Boys Amused.

Two well known Victorians, one a prospective hotel proprietor, weight about 250 pounds, and the other a large contractor, weighing about the same amount, afforded the newsboys and bootblacks of Seattle a great deal of amusements on Wednesday morning. The hotel man was purchasing a hat and his companion was waiting for him when the City of Kingston blew her last whistle. The couple must have had important business in Victoria, for without much talk they started down the street as fast as it was possible for them to run. The boys then started in to make it worse by yelling, "look at the fat man's race," "go it fatty," etc. The boat had left the wharf when they reached there, but the captain kindly backed up and allowed them to get aboard. Those two men were so happy or so winded when they reached the boat that they couldn't express their gratitude.

Mothers!

Castoria is recommended by physicians for children teething. It is a purely vegetable preparation, its ingredients are published around each bottle. It is pleasant to the taste and absolutely harmless. It relieves constipation, regulates the bowels, quiets pain, cures diarrhœa and wind colic, allays feverishness, destroys worms, and prevents convulsions, soothes the child and gives it refreshing and natural sleep. Castoria is the children's panacea—the mothers' friend. 35 doses, 35 cents.

April showers may be the forerunner of May flowers, and they are also certain to bring with them cold in the head, which if neglected, develops into catarrh, perhaps into consumption and death. Nasal Balm never fails to give instant relief, and will permanently cure the worst case of catarrh if faithfully used. Sold by all dealers.

Makes the Weak Strong

The marked benefit which people in run down or weakened state of health derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves the claim that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It does not act like a stimulant, imparting fictitious strength from which there must follow a reaction of greater weakness than before, but in the most natural way Hood's Sarsaparilla overcomes creates an appetite, purifies the blood, and, in short, gives great bodily, nerve, mental and digestive strength.

That Tired Feeling

"I derived very much benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I took for general debility. It built me right up, and gave me an excellent appetite." ED. JENKINS, Mt. Savage, Md.

Fagged Out

"Last spring I was completely fagged out. My strength left me and I felt sick and miserable all the time, so that I could hardly attend to my business. I took one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it cured me. There is nothing like it." R. C. BEGOLE, Editor Enterprise, Belleville, Mich.

Worn Out

"Hood's Sarsaparilla restored me to good health. Indeed, I might say truthfully it saved my life. To one feeling tired and worn out I would earnestly recommend a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. PHEBE MOSHER, 90 Brooks Street, East Boston, Mass.

THE ABOVE WORK IS THE OUTCOME of the recent Moral Reform Movement which took place in the Capital City of British Columbia, and which played such an prominent part in the late Municipal Elections held there. The author discusses the various phases of the question, and has endeavored to deal with the subject in a manner that will be interesting and some practical benefit to every reader into whose hands his book may fall. The position taken by the Ministers of the Christian Churches in regard to the Municipal Election above referred to is also fully dealt with, and although the criticisms may seem severe to some, the author hopes the conclusions drawn and the desire he has shown to do a service, no matter how slight it may be, to the weak and fallen, will meet with the approval of all lovers of justice and humanity.
